

ACTION:

One player from each group sets up in the 'target zone'. Introduce a neutral player who works along the side-line. This player plays for both side and can be used for 'wall passes' but cannot pass into the 'target man'. Remaining players play in the central area. Normal football rules apply. To score the outfield players must pass into the 'target man' who must control the ball. The 'target man' then changes places with the player who made the last pass.
Game restarts with the opposing team playing out from the back line.

TIPS:

The 'target man' must move around in the 'target zone' to give teammates angles to pass to him.

Encourage players to pass and move within the area.

Change format to:

- Three touch
- Two touch
- One touch!!!!
